Overview

Destination C1 & C2: Grammar and Vocabulary has been designed for advanced students at C1 and C2 levels on the Council of Europe's Common European Framework scale. This book provides presentation and practice of all the key grammar, vocabulary and lexico-grammatical areas required for all main C1 and C2 exams, eg Cambridge CAE and Cambridge CPE.

There are 26 units in the book: 13 grammar units and 13 vocabulary units.

Grammar

Each grammar unit begins with a clear two-page presentation of grammar rules and examples in table form. Important points are highlighted in Watch out! boxes.

The grammar practice exercises follow the order of the grammar presentation, and are graded in difficulty through the unit. A wide variety of exercise types are used, including those found in major C1 and C2 level exams.

In each grammar unit, the topic vocabulary focus of the following unit is used as a context for presentation and text-based exercises.

Vocabulary

The vocabulary units are topic-based, covering topics appropriate to the level. Each vocabulary unit begins with two pages of clear presentation tables comprising six sections: two topic vocabulary sections; phrasal verbs; phrases, patterns and collocations; idioms; word formation.

The vocabulary exercises are organised according to these sections, and provide systematic practice of the vocabulary presented. Exercise types found in major C1 and C2 level exams are included.

The grammar focus of the preceding unit is consolidated within these exercises.

Revision and consolidation

Strong emphasis is placed on revision and consolidation. The book includes:

- thirteen reviews (after every two units)
- two progress tests (after units 12 and 26)
- six photocopiable revision tests (after every four units)

Additional material

Additional reference material is provided at the back of the book. This includes:

- a topic vocabulary database with definitions and example sentences
- a phrasal verbs database with definitions and example sentences
- a phrases, patterns and collocations database
- an idioms database with definitions and example sentences
- a word formation database

Words and phrases often used with the present perfect simple since / for / It's the first/second/etc time / before / already / yet / ever / just / still / recently / up to now (up) until now / so far

vs Grammar

- In American English, the past simple is often used instead of the present perfect simple.
US: Did you find the answer yet? UK: Have you found the answer yet?
US: I already found the answer. UK: I've already found the answer.
- In informal American English, gotten is sometimes used as a past participle instead of got when it means 'obtain', 'become' or 'move'.
US: I haven't gotten the books yet. (= I haven't bought the books yet.) UK: I haven't got the books yet.

Present perfect continuous

Actions and situations continuing up to the present (or just before the present)

The future (in time clauses)

(see Unit 5 for more information)

We've all been wondering what to get Tony for his birthday and we just can't decide.

I won't take my driving test until I've been having lessons for at least two months.

Watch out!

- We usually use the present perfect simple to specify a particular number of times/things.
✓ I've written two essays this week.
- We usually use the present perfect continuous to emphasise the duration of an action/situation.
✓ I've worked here for five years. (no emphasis) ✓ I've been working here for five years. (emphasises the duration)

Words and phrases often used with the present perfect continuous since / for / just / all day/week/etc

Stative and non-stative uses of verbs

When certain verbs are used to describe states, they are generally used in simple tenses rather than continuous tenses.

Communication	agree, deny, disagree
Thinking	believe, consider, doubt, expect, imagine, know, mean, realise, suppose, suspect, think, understand
Existence	be, exist
Emotions	adore, appeal, appreciate, desire, despise, detest, dislike, envy, fear, feel, forgive, hate, like, love, mind, need, pity, prefer, satisfy, trust, want, wish

Letter to the editor

The Prime Minister's comments yesterday on education spending miss the point, as the secondary education system also needs a major overhaul. Firstly, the system only views the weakest learners as having special (1) The brightest and most (2) students are not encouraged to develop to their full potential. Secondly, there's too much testing and not enough learning. My fifteen-year-old daughter, for example, has just spent the last month or so (3) for exams. These aren't even real, important exams, as her GCSEs will be next year. They're just (4) exams. Is the work she's been doing really going to make her more (5) about her subjects, or will she forget it all tomorrow? I suspect the latter.

Thirdly, the standard (6) doesn't give students any (7) in developing practical work-related, living and social skills, or in skills necessary for higher education. How many students entering university have the first idea what the difference is between (8) someone else's work and making good use of someone else's ideas? Shouldn't they have been taught this at school? How many of them are really able to go about (9) – a skill that's essential at university because there are no teachers to tell you what to do – in an efficient way? Indeed, how many students (10) from university totally unable to spell even simple English words correctly? The system is letting our children down.

O Use the word given in capitals to form a word that fits in the space.

Rhetoric

The (1) (CONCEIVE) of 'rhetoric', or effective public speaking, dates back thousands of years. The underlying (2) (ASSUME) behind rhetoric is that how you present an argument can greatly influence whether people are persuaded by you or not. There is (3) (DOUBT) plenty of evidence to support this idea – it's practically (4) (THINK), for example, for a successful politician to be a poor communicator – but is it just a question of style winning over substance? Certainly, it is often said of politicians that they talk complete (5) (SENSE) but what they say they say with such (6) (CONVINCE) that we tend to believe them, at least when they're in opposition. On the other hand, (7) (WISE) and knowledge are of little value if you cannot communicate them effectively to your peers or to the next generation. It is the combination of clear (8) (REASON), sound (9) (JUDGE) and effective presentation and communication skills that defines true rhetoric. A true rhetorician should always come across as knowledgeable, and never as (10) (OPINION) or ignorant.

A Use the word given in capitals to form a word that fits in the space.

Students learning English as a second language are sometimes given a word by their teacher and asked to give an (1) (EXPLAIN) as to what that word means; in other words, to provide a (2) (DEFINE). The (3) (ASSUME) is that if you know a word, you can define it. (4) (LOGIC), that might make sense, but in reality it is not always (5) (REASON) to assume that. There are words and phrases that even native speakers use in conversation without much (6) (THINK) which can lead to (7) (CONFUSE) when you ask a native speaker to define them. Take the (8) (CONCEIVE) of 'zeitgeist', for example, which has entered English from German. It's (9) (DOUBT) much easier to use than it is to define. With a word like 'zeitgeist', it may be more (10) (SENSE) to test the student's understanding in ways other than asking them to define it.

Past continuous vs past simple

- We often use the past continuous to describe background events in progress and the past simple for the main events.
✓ We were talking about MP3s when Andrea mentioned her new music website.
- We normally use the past simple to describe regular or repeated actions in the past, not the past continuous.
✓ When I was a child, I visited my grandmother every week.

Past continuous vs present perfect continuous

In general, the past continuous is used to refer to actions in progress during periods of time or at moments which are finished. The present perfect continuous is used to refer to actions in progress during periods of time which continue up to the present.

- ✓ We were working on my computer for four hours yesterday.
- ✓ We have been working on my computer for four hours so far.

Past perfect simple

Situations and states before the past
Completed actions before a moment in the past

A series of actions continuing up to a moment in the past

Completed actions where the important thing is the result at a moment in the past

Future time

Often the same future event can be described in different ways:

- ✓ The shop closes at 3 pm tomorrow.
- ✓ The shop is closing at 3 pm tomorrow.
- ✓ The shop will close at 3 pm tomorrow.
- ✓ The shop is going to close at 3 pm tomorrow.

Which way you choose to describe something depends on a number of things:

- Function (For example do you want to express a request, a promise or an offer?)
- How you see the future event/situation. (For example, if you see a future event as a fixed event that cannot be changed, the present simple may be appropriate.)
- Level of formality (will is usually more formal than be going to)

In the tables below are the main uses of will, be going to, etc for the future.

will

Predictions	It looks as if Jake will lose his job.
Future facts	The factory will open in July.
Decisions made at the moment of speaking	I know! I'll ask for a pay rise tomorrow.
Offers	I'll help you with the advertising campaign.
Promises	I promise you you won't lose your job.
Requests	Will you give a presentation on the sales figures?
Refusals (won't)	No, I won't give a presentation on the sales figures.

Watch out!

- For offers and suggestions in the question form, with I and we, we use shall not will.
 ✓ Shall I help you with the advertising campaign? (offer)
 ✓ Shall we discuss this in the morning? (suggestion)
- For requests, we can also use would, could or can. Would and could are more polite than will and can.
 ✓ Would/Could/Can you give a presentation on the sales figures?
- For refusals, we can also use couldn't or can't. Couldn't is more polite than won't and can't.
 ✓ No, I couldn't/can't give a presentation on the sales figures.

US vs UK Grammar

In British English, shall is sometimes used with I and we in place of will.

- ✓ I shall be in touch again soon.
- ✓ I will be in touch again soon.

be going to

Predictions based on present evidence	Look at that wall. It looks as if it's going to fall down.
Intentions	I'm going to get my degree, then get a well-paid job.

Present continuous

Arrangements	I'm meeting Fiona on Friday to discuss the advertising campaign.
Intentions	I'm asking for a pay rise tomorrow.

Watch out!

Both be going to and present continuous can be used for intentions. However, present continuous is not usually used for intentions in the distant future.

- ✓ I'm going to work for a really successful company one day.
- ✗ I'm working for a huge multinational one day.

Present simple

Fixed future events (eg timetables and schedules)	The shop closes at 3 pm next Saturday.

Future perfect simple

Completed situations before a certain time Continuing situations up to a certain time	It looks as if Jake will have lost his job by the end of the week. This time next month, I'll have worked at the company for exactly 25 years.
--	---

Future perfect continuous

Continuing situations up to a certain time (emphasises duration)	This time next month, I'll have been working at the company for exactly 25 years.

Future continuous

Situations in progress at a certain time in the future Situations which will happen in the future in the normal course of events Habits or repeated actions at a point in the future	This time next week I'll be travelling round Russia on business. The company Chairperson will be arriving on Thursday. I think that, in the future, more and more people will be commuting to work by plane.

Time clauses

After many time words and phrases, such as when, while, once, as soon as, etc, we do not use will or be going to. We use:

present simple	✓ I'll give you a pay rise when you start working harder! present continuous	✓ I'll give you a pay rise once you're bringing in three new customers a week. present perfect simple	✓ I'll give you a pay rise as soon as you've proved you're a hard worker. present perfect continuous	✓ I won't give you a pay rise until you've been working here for three years.

Other ways to express the future

be (just) about to be (just) on the point/verge of be due to be to do	for the (very) near future for the (very) near future for formal arrangements for obligations for formal announcements	I'm just about to ask for my pay rise. I'm just on the point/verge of asking for my pay rise. I'm due to meet my boss at eleven o'clock. You're to get those reports written before Friday! The factory is to open in July.
other modals (see Unit 9 for more information)	to express certainty, possibility, etc	I might ask for a pay rise tomorrow.

Future in the past

When we look back at what was the future once, we usually make the future verb forms past. Will becomes would, is going to become was going to, etc. Tenses such as present simple also change, by going back one tense.

will → would	Then: I think the factory will open in September. Now: I thought the factory would open in September. present simple → past simple	Then: I'm in a rush because the train leaves at 4. Now: I was in a rush because the train left at 4.

Dear Alan,

I am writing to thank the organisation for the (1) service I received when my membership (2)

As you may know, I am a (3) member of the Chaversham (4) Car Club, having spent most of my (5) working with cars built in the (6) following the First World War.

Indeed, I was under the impression that I did not have to renew my subscription each year as I had been granted the status of '(7) member' for the (8) I spent as Chairperson of the organisation in the 1970s. I was therefore more than a little surprised to receive a rather (9) e-mail from the club saying that as three months had (10) since my membership ran out I was no longer eligible to attend the (11) dinner next month. I, of course, immediately replied, stating the facts as I saw them.

I received a (12) e-mail from the same person, apologising for the confusion, explaining that although I did not have to pay to renew my subscription, I still had to renew it. They kindly explained how I could do this online, and I must say I was most impressed with the whole thing, as the change from my being a non-member to being a member again was literally (13)

I am now looking forward to meeting up with some of my (14) at the dinner next week. I hope to see you there.

Warmest regards,
Robert Thompson

Margaret Thatcher

Few British politicians have aroused more passion than Margaret Thatcher, who was Prime Minister from 1979 until 1990. It is not (1) that, during her premiership, Britain went through a period of (2) change. Those who support Thatcher's policies say she was responsible for changing Britain's (3) union laws and smashing union power, paving the way for the creation of a modern, (4) economy which required much higher (5) , efficiency and wage-restraint on the part of the (6) than in the past. One of her core beliefs was that it was (7) which was responsible for running companies, rather than unions or the government.

Critics of Margaret Thatcher point to the very high (8) figures of the 1980s – the official (9) total had risen from just over one million people out of work in 1979 to over three million by 1982.

When Margaret Thatcher realised that she had lost the support of many of her MPs in November 1990 and stood down as Prime Minister, the nation was split. Some saw her resignation as (10) , and wished she would continue. Others felt it could not have come too soon. Even today, (11) and economists are divided as to whether her legacy was positive or negative overall.

■ Passives and causatives

The passive

When we don't know who does/did something	The car was stolen at approximately 1.30 am.
When it's obvious who does/did something	Having been introduced in 1988, the Road Traffic Act regulates all vehicle use on UK roads.
When it's not important who does/did something	The XL500 was designed with young families in mind, so there's plenty of room in the boot.
To emphasise new information (which appears at the end of the sentence)	This type of submarine was developed during the Second World War by the Americans.
To avoid starting clauses with long expressions	We were surprised by the number of people trying to leave the city for the long weekend. (More natural than The number of people trying to leave the city for the long weekend surprised us.)
To produce a formal style	All passengers are required to present their ticket to the inspector.

Impersonal passive

Form	Common verbs	Example
noun + verb in passive form + infinitive / perfect infinitive	agree, assume, believe, claim, consider, estimate, expect, feel, find, guarantee, know, mean, presume, regard, report, say, suppose, think, understand	Tourism is expected to become a major part of the country's economy.
There + verb in passive form + infinitive / perfect infinitive		There are reported to have been a record number of accidents on the roads this year.
It + verb in passive form + that clause	accept, agree, argue, assume, believe, calculate, claim, consider, estimate, expect, feel, know, presume, report, say, suggest, suppose, think, understand	It is thought that the new railway will provide employment opportunities for local people.

Direct and indirect object

Some verbs in active sentences can be followed by both a direct and an indirect object (usually a person). Common verbs include: bring, buy, get, give, leave, lend, make, offer, owe, pass, pay, promise, refuse, send, show, take, teach, tell, write, etc. There are two possible passive forms.

Active sentence: Michael gave the plane tickets to Jill.
With indirect object as subject of passive verb	Jill was given the plane tickets (by Michael).
With direct object as subject of passive verb	The plane tickets were given to Jill (by Michael).

Watch out!

- In the second structure in the table above, we sometimes omit the preposition before indirect object pronouns.
 - ✓ Sharon's Rolls-Royce was left (to) her by her grandfather.
- With the verbs explain and suggest, the preposition before indirect object pronouns cannot be omitted. They cannot be used with the first structure in the table above.
 - ✗ ~~I was explained how to drive the train.~~
 - ✗ ~~How to drive the train was explained me.~~
 - ✓ How to drive the train was explained to me.

Avoiding the passive

The passive is not normally used with verbs in the present perfect continuous, past perfect continuous, future continuous or future perfect continuous tenses. Various prepositional phrases are used to avoid the passive in these tenses, including the following.

in progress	x Preparations for the flight will be being made as the President arrives at the airport. ✓ Preparations for the flight will be in progress as the President arrives at the airport.

Watch out!

- Some verbs are not usually used in the passive. They include intransitive verbs such as appear, arrive, die, etc.
- Many verbs used statively are also not usually used in the passive. They include consist, deserve, fit, have, lack, look, mind, realise, resemble, seem, suit, etc.
- The verb let is not used in the passive when it means 'allow', although phrasal verbs with let can be used in the passive.
 - ✓ Alice was clearly guilty, but she was let off with a warning.
- Some verbs can be followed by the bare infinitive (without to) in active sentences. They are followed by the full infinitive in passive sentences. These verbs include hear, help, make and see.

Don't worry. We'll soon have your car running like new.

Watch out!

- Most of the time, we do not show who does/did an action (the 'agent') in a passive or causative sentence. When we do want to refer to the agent, we use by.
 - ✓ We should get the car looked at by a professional.
- When we want to refer to materials or instruments used in a passive or causative sentence, we use with.
 - ✓ The engine is started with a special electronic card instead of a key.
- We use other prepositions after some past participles that are used like adjectives.
 - ✓ I am frightened of driving on motorways.
 - ✓ My car is covered in dirt.

The scramjet

Imagine (1) transported around the globe in a matter of hours, rather than the 24 hours which (2) currently required to get from London to Sydney. Such is the promise of the scramjet, a highly experimental type of engine which has been (3) development over the past couple of decades. In a conventional jet engine, air (4) sucked into the engine at speeds below the speed of sound, where it is mixed (5) fuel, ignited, and the exhaust gases provide thrust. In a scramjet, which has to (6) taken to supersonic speeds by conventional means before it will operate, the air enters at supersonic speeds.

It has (7) estimated that a scramjet might be capable of travelling at 12-24 times the speed of sound. However, the technology (8) been found to be extremely difficult to control. Although scientists (9) had scramjets perform short flights, commercial aircraft are still a long way in the future, and indeed may never (10) successfully developed.

Modals and semi-modals

- The nine main modals (will, would, can, could, may, might, shall, should, must) have only one form (ie they do not change tense or person) and are followed by a simple or continuous bare infinitive (eg could + do, be doing, have done, have been doing). They can also be followed by a bare infinitive in the passive (eg could + be done, have been done).
- Semi-modals have similar meanings to modals. They include: need (to), ought to, had better and have (got) to.
- Some semi-modals, such as had better, do not change tense or person. Others, such as have (got) to, do.
- Some semi-modals can be used in combination with modals, producing phrases such as might have to.

Ability

Real ability	Current or general ability	can, can't	You can't really speak seven languages fluently, can you?
	Past ability	could, couldn't	There's no way you could read when you were two!
	Decisions made now about future ability	can, can't, could, couldn't	I can get you a paper when I go to the shop, if you like.
	Future ability	will/won't be able to	One day, maybe, all adults will be able to read and write.
Hypothetical ability	Current or general hypothetical ability	could, couldn't	I couldn't go on a quiz show. I'd be too scared!
	Future hypothetical ability	could, couldn't	I could go with them to the cinema tomorrow but I won't because I've already seen the film.
	Past hypothetical ability	could have, couldn't have	They could have asked the Prime Minister much more searching questions. I wonder why they didn't.

Watch out!

- The full negative form of modals is written as two words, eg could not. The exception is cannot, which is one word.
- Can and could cannot be used as infinitives. We can use to be able to instead.
✓ I'd love to be able to come with you to the cinema tomorrow but I just can't.
- We don't usually use could for past ability on one occasion. We use was/were able to, managed or succeeded, etc.
✓ Luckily, she was able to finish the article in time.
However, with verbs such as see, hear, feel, etc we can use could for past ability on one occasion.
✓ I could see that she was tired.

Permission

Asking for permission	may, could, couldn't, can, can't	Can I finish watching this before I go to bed?
Giving/refusing permission	may, may not, could, couldn't, can, can't	No, you can't .

Watch out!

- May is more polite and formal than could, and could is more polite and formal than can.
- We don't usually use modals to talk about past permission. We can use was/were allowed to.
✓ We were allowed to buy one comic each.
- However, we do use could to talk about past permission in reported speech. (see Unit 25 for more information)
✓ Mum said we could buy one comic each.

Advice

Asking for and giving advice	should, shouldn't, ought to, oughtn't to, had better	You should try to get that poem published.
------------------------------	---	---

Watch out!

- We can only use hadn't better in questions.
✓ Hadn't you better check that these facts are actually true?
- We can also use might/may as well to give advice and make suggestions. This suggests that, although the suggestion is not perfect, there is no better option.
✓ We may as well watch this as there's nothing else on.

Criticism

Criticising past behaviour	should have, shouldn't have, ought to have, oughtn't to have	You shouldn't have spoken to Mrs Todd like that.
Expressing annoyance at past behaviour	could have, might have	You could/might have told me you were going to be late!
Criticising general behaviour	will	He will slam the door every time he goes out.
Criticising a specific example of someone's general behaviour	would	You would take the car just when I wanted to go out.

Watch out!

We can also use might as well to suggest criticism.

✓ I might as well be dead for all you care.

Obligation

Current or general obligation	must, mustn't, have (got) to, need (to)	You have to be a good communicator to be a press spokesperson.
A lack of current or general obligation	don't have to, haven't got to, needn't, don't need (to)	You don't always need to have a degree to become a journalist.
Future obligation	will have to, must, mustn't, have (got) to, (will) need (to)	You'll have to do quite a lot of research before you write this report.
A lack of future obligation	don't/won't have to, haven't got to, needn't, don't/won't need (to)	I'm glad we won't have to write any more essays on this course.
Past obligation	had to, needed (to)	We had to come up with three questions each.
A lack of past obligation	didn't have to, didn't need (to), needn't have	In the past, politicians didn't have to deal with being in a 24-hour media spotlight.

Watch out!

- We are more likely to use must for personal obligation (making our own decision about what we must do) and have to for external obligation (someone else making a decision about what we must do).
- Using must for questions is extremely formal. We usually use have to.
✓ Do you have to have a degree to be a journalist?
- Mustn't is used for prohibition. Don't have to is used for a lack of obligation.
- We can use didn't have to and didn't need to for things that we did or didn't actually do. However, we only use needn't have done for things that we actually did but weren't obliged to do.

Degrees of certainty

Certainty (or near certainty) about now, the future or generally	will, would, must, can, can't, could, couldn't	'There's someone at the door.' 'That'll be the postman.' 'It can't be . He's already been.'
Certainty (or near certainty) about the past	will have, won't have, would have, wouldn't have, must have, can't have, couldn't have	'They won't have heard the news, will they?' 'They must have heard by now, surely.'
Probability about now, the future or generally	should, shouldn't, ought to, oughtn't to, may/might well (not), could well, might easily	'The weather should be good tomorrow, shouldn't it?' 'Actually, the forecast said it may well rain .'
Probability about the past	should have, shouldn't have, ought to have, oughtn't to have, may/might well (not) have, might easily (not) have	'Jan should have finished writing her article by now, shouldn't she?' 'She may well have done , but I haven't seen it yet.'
Possibility about now, the future or generally	could, may (not), might, mightn't, may/might/could just	I might (just) have time to get to the library before it closes.
Possibility about the real past	could have, may (not) have, might have, mightn't have	Jim might not have checked his e-mail yet.

Watch out!

should and should have can be used in that clauses after words expressing importance and reactions.

✓ It's strange that you should say that. ✓ Was it necessary that Alan should have been invited to the meeting?

A tabloid editor speaks

As editor of the most popular British tabloid, I need (1) make sure we give our readers what they want. And what do they want? Scandal. It is my job to tell the readers when a celebrity has done something they should not have (2), or when a politician (3) to have done something but didn't. One accusation that is often levelled at tabloids is that we think we (4) not need to worry about the truth, but that is just not true. I have (5) be shown proof from at least two sources before I run a story. As a newspaper, you have (6) to get your facts right and you (7) not print a story just because you want it to be true. There are times when, in retrospect, we (8) not have been so careful and could have broken a story days before we did, but we (9) to have absolute proof first.

I often get asked why so many celebrities sell their stories to us. The truth is that we tell them we are going to run a story about them anyway, so they realise they might as (10) put their side of the story across. They know they (11) definitely have to speak out at some point, so why wait? And, let's face it, celebrities need to (12) talked about constantly or they stop being famous, so they (13) not complain, in my view.

What I would say to celebrities and politicians that do criticise tabloids is that you (14) not fear us if you haven't done anything wrong. But if you have, you (15) better look out, because we are going to catch you.

H Circle the correct word or phrase. If both are correct, circle both.

- 1 'Did you hear a noise?'

O Use the word given in capitals at the end of the line to form a word that fits in the space in the same line.

The (1) 'never judge a book by its cover' could not be more true for Ridiculous Rules by Marjorie Allen. The cover is completely blank, whereas the book is crammed full of wonderful examples and anecdotes. Allen is an (2) critic of much of what is taught to native and non-native speakers of English, and has issued a (3) of war against textbooks and style books which tell lies.

Take the ridiculous and (4) rule of never ending a sentence with a preposition. The lovely – if famous – story goes, that Winston Churchill, well known for his numerous (5) as well as for being British Prime Minister during the Second World War, received a manuscript back from an ignorant (6) , who had told him rather rudely that he had to (7) a sentence which ended with a preposition. Churchill responded by making the simple yet forceful (8) in the margin: 'This is an impertinence up with which I will not put.' – the (9) being that not to end a sentence with a preposition often sounds ridiculous in English. Sadly, Allen informs us that the story is probably mere (10) , and that Churchill may have actually only written 'rubbish!' in the margin.

Conditionals

Zero conditional (if/when/whenever + present tense, present tense)

General or scientific facts and definitions

If you burn fossil fuels, carbon dioxide is produced.

First conditional (if + present tense, will + bare infinitive / imperative)

Real conditions in the present or future and their results in the present or future

If we continue to pollute our planet, future generations will suffer.

To give conditional instructions

If the people from Greenpeace call, tell them I'll call them back later.

Watch out!

Other modals and semi-modals can be used instead of will in the result clause in first conditionals. These include be going to, can, could, may, might, shall, should, have to and ought to.

✓ We might prevent disaster if we change the way we live now.

Second conditional (if + past simple / past continuous, would + bare infinitive)

Hypothetical conditions in the present or future and their hypothetical results in the present or future

What would the local government do if there was an earthquake in the area?

Watch out!

Other modals can be used instead of would in the result clause in second conditionals. These include might and could.

✓ If the weather was better, we could have a picnic.

vs Grammar

• In British English, we can use both was and were after if with first and third person singular. Were is more common in a formal style. In American English, it is usual to use were.

UK: If I was/were a gambler, I'd put money on Jim being late.

US: If I were a gambler, I'd put money on Jim being late.

• In both British and American English, were is usually used in the phrase If I were you, ...

Third conditional (if + past perfect, would have + past participle)

Hypothetical conditions in the past and their results in the past

A lot more people would have been trapped by the flood if there hadn't been a warning.

Watch out!

Other modals can be used instead of would in the result clause in third conditionals. These include might, could and should.

✓ If you hadn't had a lot of luck, you could have lost all your money.

Mixed conditionals

Hypothetical conditions in the past and their results in the present

You might not be in so much trouble if you hadn't started gambling.

Hypothetical conditions in the present and their results in the past

If I were you, I would have made Paula buy her own lottery ticket.

Inverted conditionals

More formal form of the first conditional (with should)	Should the drought continue, many people will be forced to leave their villages. (= If the drought should continue ... / If the drought continues ...)
More formal form of the second conditional	Were we to stop using fossil fuels tomorrow, it would still take decades for the planet to recover. (= If we were to stop ... / If we stopped ...)
More formal form of the third conditional	Had Charles Darwin not visited the Galapagos Islands, he might never have developed his theory of evolution. (= If Charles Darwin hadn't visited ...)

Watch out!

- When the verb to be inverted is negative, we put not after the subject.
✓ Had we not attended the meeting, we would have had no idea of the council's plans.
- When the if clause comes before the result clause, we usually separate the two clauses with a comma. When the result clause comes first, we do not use a comma.
✓ If you share a car to work, you can save on energy. ✓ You can save on energy if you share a car to work.

Other conditional structures

As/so long as	We'll go up to the mountains this weekend as long as the weather's okay.
Provided/Providing (that)	You can have a pet provided that you promise to look after it properly.
On condition (that)	Applications for membership are accepted on condition that applicants are over 18.
Suppose/Supposing	Supposing the price of oil tripled tomorrow. What do you think would happen?
If it wasn't/weren't for + noun	I think I'd be quite lonely if it wasn't/weren't for my dog, Buster.
Were it not for + noun	Were it not for my dog, Buster, I think I'd be quite lonely.
But for + noun	But for your help, I wouldn't have been able to quit gambling.
If it hadn't been for + noun	If it hadn't been for your help, I wouldn't have been able to quit gambling.
Had it not been for + noun	Had it not been for your help, I wouldn't have been able to quit gambling.
If ... (should) happen to	If you (should) happen to see Davina, ask her whether she would look after the cats this weekend.
If ... should	If you should see Davina, ask her whether she would look after the cats this weekend.
If ... happened to	If you happened to see someone drop litter in the street, what would you do?
If ... were to	Do you think it would reduce pollution if the government were to introduce a new tax on petrol?
If so/not	Are you concerned about the environment? If so , you might be interested in joining Greenpeace.
Otherwise	You should have your air conditioner serviced, otherwise you'll waste a lot of energy.
Unless	Unless governments act now, the environment is really going to suffer.
In case of + noun	In case of fire, leave the building by the nearest emergency exit.
In case	Take a coat with you in case the weather gets worse.

Other uses of if

To mean 'if it is true that'	If you were at the meeting, why didn't you raise the issue of recycling?
To mean 'if you are willing to'	If you'll follow me, I'll show you into the park manager's office.
To mean 'I'm saying this in case'	If you like zoos, the one in Singapore is fantastic.

CFCs

Had (1) not been for the invention of CFCs (chlorofluorocarbons) in the 1920s, at least one environmental problem might have been avoided. In fact, (2) they to be invented today, they (3) no doubt be immediately banned. For fifty years, though, if you bought an air conditioner or a spray, there (4) a good chance that it contained CFCs – and those CFCs are still around in the atmosphere.

If you (5) able to travel into the upper layers of the atmosphere, you (6) see the chlorine and fluorine from CFCs breaking down the ozone (a form of oxygen). Ozone could damage your lungs (7) you were to breathe it, but high in the atmosphere it performs the function of blocking ultraviolet rays from the sun, rays which can cause skin cancer if you (8) exposed to them. We might (9) have known about the process (10) it not been for the work of two American scientists, Frank Rowland and Mario Molina. A number of industries fought against their conclusions, and might have won (11) the evidence not been so clear. Rowland and Molina received the Nobel Prize for Chemistry in 1995 for their work on the ozone layer, but (12) which we might today be facing an even greater problem.

Phrasal verbs

F Write one word in each gap.

Global warming

There has been a steady rise in the average temperature around the planet over the last hundred years or so, and the majority of scientists put it (1) to human activity. The solution, they claim, is to cut back (2) our consumption of fossil fuels, which produce the carbon dioxide that drives global warming. However, some scientists argue that the historical evidence shows that over time the Earth heats (3) and cools (4) naturally. According to them, we should just continue to get (5) the fossil fuels that are available and find alternatives when they run out.

Whatever the cause of global warming, the increase in temperature is undeniable. It is predicted that over the next few decades many species will die (6) as once fertile areas turn to desert. Seas will rise in some areas and rivers will dry (7) in other areas, killing (8) animal and plant life that rely on them. It looks like this debate will only get more intense.

Earthquake prediction

If you were to hazard a (1) at when and where the next major earthquake will strike, there's (2) chance that you'd be almost as accurate as the experts. The science of earthquake prediction is still in its infancy, which is uncomfortable, considering the threat posed (3) human civilisation. Even with vast resources at (4) disposal, often the best that scientists can do is say that (5) odds are that an earthquake will strike where one occurred before. One reason the chances (6) making an accurate prediction are so low is the nature (7) the forces involved. It seems to be impossible to tell the difference between a small earthquake and a warning tremor. Scientists need to decide whether to put lives at (8) by not issuing a warning, or constantly issue warnings about the threat (9) an earthquake that may be ignored. In the end, the odds seem to be (10) us solving this difficult problem any time soon.

Life in extreme conditions

Until relatively recently, it was thought that extreme heat and cold presented (1) (MOUNT) problems to living organisms and that all life existed in a narrow range of (2) (FAVOUR) temperatures. However, the discovery of extremophiles has forced a (3) (ASSESS) of that view.

Extremophiles are bacteria that survive, and even thrive, in (4) (SEEM) impossible conditions. (5) (PROBABLE) as it may seem, some exist at temperatures exceeding 80°C in geysers and hot springs, while others live in the freezing conditions of the Antarctic (6) (WILD). While most species of larger animals are (7) (THREAT) by global warming, even to the point of (8) (EXTINCT), that kind of (9) (ECOLOGY) change may actually benefit the extremophiles. These (10) (MYSTERY) organisms may survive long after the human race.

Unreal time

- Sometimes we use the past simple and continuous to refer to the present, the future or a general situation.
- Sometimes we use the past perfect simple and continuous to refer to a hypothetical past that didn't actually happen.

Watch out!

- For all of the situations below with the past simple and past continuous, with the verb to be after I and he/she/it, there is a choice of was or were. ✓ I wish I was rich. ✓ I wish I were rich.
- Both was and were are common in informal English but were is sometimes more appropriate in formal, written English and is always used in the phrase If I were you ...

Conditionals

For hypothetical and unlikely current, future or general conditions (see Unit 11 for more information)

*I wouldn't accept a job unless I was absolutely sure what the salary was.
If you were travelling to Russia, would you get roubles before you left or when you arrived?*

For hypothetical past conditions (see Unit 11 for more information)

*If I had known, I would have taken some dollars with me.
If I had been running the bank, I would have given you an overdraft!*

imagine / what if / suppose / supposing

To consider hypothetical or unlikely current, future or general situations

*Supposing you were given ten million euros, what would you spend it on?
What if you were walking down the street and you suddenly found a wallet? Would you hand it in?*

To consider hypothetical or unlikely past situations

*Suppose you had won the lottery last night. What would you have done?
Imagine you'd been working there for 40 years. What kind of pension would you have got?*

Watch out!

We can also use a present tense instead of past simple or past continuous after these words and phrases. This indicates that the situation is more likely to happen.

- ✓ Supposing you become a millionaire, how will it change your life? (more likely)
- ✓ Supposing you became a millionaire, how would it change your life? (less likely)

as if / as though

For current, future or general untrue, hypothetical comparisons

*She acts as if/though she was a millionaire.
Colin acts as if/though he were making a million pounds a month.*

For past untrue, hypothetical comparisons

*Tony looks as if/though someone had just handed him a million euros.
It's almost as if/though they'd been working for free.*

Watch out!

- When the verb before as if/though is in a present or present perfect tense, we only use a past tense for comparisons that we know aren't true. ✓ She behaves as if she were really wealthy. (= She's not really wealthy.)
- When the verb before as if/though is in a present or present perfect tense, for comparisons that are possible, we use a present or present perfect tense after as if/though. ✓ She looks as if she's really wealthy. (= It's very possible that she is wealthy.)
- When the verb before as if/though is in a past tense, we use a past tense after as if/though for comparisons that are either true or hypothetical. ✓ She looked as if she was really wealthy but I knew she wasn't / so maybe she was.

Questions and requests

To make questions and requests more polite	How much money did you want to spend, madam? I was wondering whether you might be able to give me some advice.
--	---

it's (high/about) time

To suggest that something should be done now or in the immediate future	It's (high/about) time I got a mortgage. It's (high/about) time we were leaving .
---	--

Watch out!

- With It's (high/about) time, there is often no real difference in meaning between past simple and past continuous.
✓ It's time I went home. ✓ It's time I was going home.
- We can also use a full infinitive after It's time, but not after It's high/about time.
✓ It's time to think about getting a loan.

would rather/sooner

For current, general or future preference	Jan would rather/sooner we bought a house than carried on renting. Would you rather/sooner I was begging in the streets?
For past preference	We'd rather/sooner you hadn't lent Kurdip the money.

Watch out!

Would rather/sooner + past simple/continuous is only used to talk about preference regarding someone else. When there is no change of subject, we use would rather/sooner + bare infinitive, or would prefer + full infinitive.
✓ She'd rather not borrow any money from you. ✓ She'd prefer not to borrow any money from you.

wish / if only

Wishes about now, the future or generally	Do you wish you had a bigger house? If only I was earning a reasonable salary.
Wishes about the past	If only I'd bought a lottery ticket this morning. Carla wished she'd been keeping a much closer eye on her investments.

Watch out!

When wish is in the past simple, it is still followed by the past simple or past continuous for current, future or general wishes.
✓ Simon dearly wished that he had a bigger house. ✓ I sat there and wished I was earning a reasonable salary.

Other structures with wish / if only

To criticise other people or wish for a situation to be different	Wish / If only + would	I wish they would offer me a pay rise.
Wishes about ability or permission	Wish / If only + could	I wish I could find a job that pays well.
Wishes about past ability or permission	Wish / If only + could + perfect infinitive	I wish I could have got a mortgage with a fixed interest rate.
To express desires in a very formal way	Wish + full infinitive	I wish to speak to the bank manager.
To wish someone luck/happiness/success/etc	Wish + noun	I wish him every success .

Watch out!

- We do not usually use would when the subject of wish is the same as the subject of would.
X Pete wishes he would earn more.
- We do not use wish to express desires about a real, possible future. ✓ Pete wishes he earnt / could earn more.
- We can use hope instead.
X I wish the cheque arrives tomorrow. ✓ I hope the cheque arrives tomorrow.

A Write the verbs in brackets in the correct form in each gap.

The importance of nothing

There is a lateral thinking question which asks: 'If the Romans (1) (have) all the technology we have today, why would they not have been able to get to the moon?' (2) (we / be) to think about this logically, we would probably be unable to come up with a satisfactory reason. However, with lateral thinking, there is a perfectly reasonable explanation. (3) (the Romans / be) as technologically advanced as we are, they would indeed be stuck here on Earth. Why? Because if, 2,000 years ago, they (4) (employ) a Roman centurion to count down their Roman space rocket, he would have started at ten (in Latin, of course), got down to one and then stopped. The Romans had no word for 'zero', so there would have been no 'Lift-off!'

Of course, the truth is that if these hypothetical Romans (5) (have) the number 'zero', it would be impossible for them to have all our technology. If the concept of zero (6) (develop), we would not have computers today. Modern maths and physics relies absolutely on there being a numeral to represent nothingness. It may seem obvious to us now that zero should exist, but many philosophers in the past were very uncomfortable with the idea. The ancient Greeks tied themselves in logical knots by stating: 'If nothing (7) (be) a number, then it would be something. And if it (8) (do) become something, then it would no longer be nothing.' If it (9) (be) for an Indian mathematician called Brahmagupta, who knows what would have happened? He wrote the earliest known text stating that zero was a number. If he (10) (do), we might not have set foot on the moon either.

B Write the verbs in brackets in the correct form in each gap to make hypothetical situations.

- 1 Supposing you (have) the chance to spend a year in space, would you take it?
- 2 What if we (decide) to run away right now and never come back?
- 3 Suppose all your friends (say) bad things about you behind your back and you found out. What would you do?
- 4 Imagine you (have) any money or any means of getting any. What on earth could you do?
- 5 What if the Internet (invent)? Wouldn't that be weird?
- 6 Supposing the sun (stop) shining right now, how long would it take for us to realise?
- 7 Imagine we (just / tell) that a huge meteor was on its way to Earth. What would be the best thing to do?
- 8 Suppose you (can) travel back in time. Where would you go?
- 9 What if everyone in the world (speak) the same language?
- 10 Suppose it (prove) that aliens existed and were living among us!
- 11 I do realise it'll probably never happen but imagine her song (become) really popular!
- 12 What if you (give) three wishes by a genie in a bottle? What would you wish for?
- 13 Supposing you (wake) up one morning and found you'd gone back in time, how would you feel?
- 14 I know we can't travel faster than the speed of light but suppose for a moment that we (be) able to.
- 15 Imagine that humans (can) speak. How do you think we'd communicate?

Many companies pay an annual (10) to shareholders – this can be a welcome source of extra income if the company's doing well.

Phrasal verbs

E Write one word in each gap.

Dealing with debt

If your debts are mounting (1) and your financial problems are weighing you (2) , the first thing to do is to stay calm. Sizing (3) your financial situation – however painful – is far better than just ignoring it. The next thing to do is to make a financial plan.

At the top, write down your total monthly income. Then make a list of all your monthly outgoings. Break these outgoings (4) into essentials (such as electricity bills and food) and luxuries (such as nights out). Cross the luxuries off – there's no more of them for the time being – and take your essential outgoings (5) from your income. The amount that's remaining is the amount you can afford to pay (6) to your creditors each month. Most credit card companies are willing to accept payment in instalments as they know that if you – and they – just let the debt build (7) indefinitely it will never be paid off. If your essential expenses add up (8) more than your income, then your situation is more serious and you'll have to consider drastic action either to increase your income or reduce the amount of money you have to pay (9) each month on essentials.

N Use the word given in capitals to form a word that fits in the space.

Albert Einstein

Albert Einstein's work has enormously (1) our understanding of the universe and has had a (2) impact on all our lives. Thanks to his equation $E=mc^2$, we now know that energy and mass (or matter) are directly related to each other. To a very great (3), it is Einstein who is responsible for our now knowing that space and time are actually one thing: space-time. (4), without $E=mc^2$, we would not have nuclear power – and nuclear weapons – today.

Einstein did not become famous because of $E=mc^2$, which was first published in 1905. At the time, his paper was (5) ignored, even by most scientists. Indeed, it was 14 years later that Einstein first made headlines round the world, when scientific evidence began to show that his Theory of General Relativity, which was an (6) of his 1905 paper, was correct.

The idea that only a tiny (7) of scientists can understand Einstein's theories comes from this media reporting. The New York Times asked its golfing correspondent to cover the story. As he was clearly out of his (8), he presumed that everyone else was too. A myth was born.

Space, time, energy and mass are (9) subjects – no pun intended – to get to grips with, but Einstein's ideas are not impossible to understand by any means. The implications of Einstein's work for our lives, however, may well be (10)

A recent government report (1) (HIGH) the (2) (EXTEND) to which credit card debt is spiralling. Blame is (3) (PORTION) solely to the credit card companies, who, the report claims, will go to any (4) (LONG) to attract new customers. (5) (ADD), according to the report, they are responsible for encouraging existing customers to borrow more by raising their monthly limit. Certainly a recent advertising campaign by a major credit card company – which has since been (6) (DRAW) – seems to bear these findings out.

However, while the responsibility of the credit card companies is not (7) (CONSIDER), it is, in my opinion, unfair to lay all the blame on their shoulders. The (8) (MAJOR) of credit card users are able to make their (9) (PAY) on time without difficulty. There will always be a (10) (MINOR) of people in our society who are financially irresponsible. If they run up huge debts, is it really the credit card company's fault?

■ Adjectives and adverbs

Position of adjectives

Before a noun

After verbs such as appear, be, become, feel, get, grow, look, seem, smell, sound, taste and turn

I love your new house.

The material this dress is made out of feels rough.

Watch out!

- The verbs in the table above are not normally followed by adverbs. However, some of them can be followed by adverbs when the verb refers to an action.
 - ✓ She looked angrily at the man behind the counter.
- After as, how, so, this (= so), that (= so) and too, adjectives come before the article.
 - ✓ I could never live in as crowded a city as Tokyo. ✓ Tokyo's so/that crowded a city that I'd hate to live there.
 - ✓ How crowded a city is Tokyo?* ✓ I could never live in Tokyo – it's too crowded a city.
- Some adjectives only appear after a verb and not before a noun. These include adjectives beginning with a-, such as afraid, aghast, alike, alive, alone, asleep, awake, etc.
 - ✓ A boy was asleep in the street. ✗ There was an asleep boy in the street.

Position of multiple adjectives

When more than one adjective is used before a noun, they usually appear in the following order, sometimes separated by commas: judgement, size, shape, colour, origin, material, purpose

We've got a lovely little wooden cabin in the mountains.

I love your long, red, Chinese, silk curtains.

What you need for your living room is a large oak dining table.

Adjectives used as nouns

To refer to members of a general social group

To refer to members of a specific group

To refer to some nationalities

We need to provide better housing for the poor.

When the building collapsed, the injured were rushed to hospital.

The French have introduced new housing regulations in Paris.*

Position of adverbs

There are three places in a clause where an adverb (or adverbial phrase) might appear: at the beginning, at the end and with the verb. Different kinds of adverb go in different positions, and some may go in more than one position.

Adverbs do not normally appear between a verb and its direct object.

With verbs formed using auxiliary verbs, the adverb normally follows the (first) auxiliary.

Adverbs of frequency (always, often, etc) follow auxiliary verbs and be and come before other verbs.

Connecting adverbs usually go at the beginning of a clause.

✗ They built very quickly the house.

✓ They built the house very quickly.

✓ The town has always been popular with tourists.

✓ Our house will probably have been decorated by the time you get there.

✓ I'm rarely in the city centre.

✓ I rarely go to the city centre.

✓ We bought it as an investment; then, all the property prices in the area fell.

Comparisons

Comparative: to compare things or people that are different
 Superlative: to compare one member of a group of people or things with the whole group

Your flat is much bigger and more comfortable than ours.
 Mexico City is probably my least favourite city.
 I think my home town is the best place in the world.

Comparative and superlative modifiers

Modifiers with comparatives: (quite) a bit, a great deal, a good deal, a little, (quite) a lot, any, considerably, even, far, just, little, much, no, slightly, somewhat

Modifiers with superlatives: by far, far and away, easily, far from, much, quite

This area has become considerably more crowded and far noisier in the last ten years.

Structures used to make comparisons

(nearly/almost/just/half/twice/easily/etc) as ... as not (nearly/quite) as/so ... as nothing like as ... as / nowhere near as ... as the ... , the ...

Platinum is about twice as expensive as gold.
 Iron isn't nearly as hard as diamond.
 Iron is nothing like as / nowhere near as hard as diamond.
The taller the building, the greater the fire risk.

Watch out!

- ✓ Paper is not nearly as strong as plastic. (large difference between the things being referred to)
- ✓ Gold is not quite as valuable as it was last month. (small difference between the things being referred to)

Gradable and ungradable adjectives

Ungradable adjectives describe qualities which are extreme and which cannot be 'more' or 'less', eg amazing, dead, exhausted, fantastic, helpless, impossible, incredible, necessary, perfect, pointless, right, splendid, unacceptable, wonderful, wrong, etc. Other adjectives are gradable.

Modifiers with ungradable adjectives: absolutely, completely, quite, totally, utterly, etc

Modifiers with gradable adjectives: a bit, a little, fairly, quite, really, too, very, etc

After working on the building site all day, Tim was absolutely exhausted.

Pete was a bit tired after working on the building site all day, but it wasn't too bad.

Watch out!

When quite is used with gradable adjectives, it means 'rather, fairly'. When quite is used with ungradable adjectives, it means 'absolutely, completely'.

- ✓ Our flat's quite nice, but not perfect.
- ✓ I love your flat! The balconies are quite splendid!

Confusing cases

Some words have the same form as an adjective and as an adverb and some also form adjectives with -ly. The different forms can have different meanings. These include:

fair / fairly	free / freely	late / lately	short / shortly	fast	hard / hardly	near / nearly
straight	fine / finely	high / highly	right / rightly	well	wide / widely

- ✓ Sandstone is not a very hard material.
- ✓ I could hardly hear the music.
- ✓ Hit it too hard and you'll break it.
- ✗ Hit it too hardly and you'll break it.

Watch out!

Some adjectives end in -ly, eg costly, deadly, friendly, likely, lively, lonely, lovely. They do not form adverbs, but we often use a phrase such as in a ... way to describe how something is done.

- ✓ She looked at me in a very friendly way.

VERTICAL LIVING

In the 1950s and 60s, the tower block seemed to offer a solution to two problems. Firstly, houses built (1) earlier in the century, or even in the nineteenth century, were (2) longer suitable for people to live in. Secondly, an increasing population placed a great (3) more strain on available space. New, vertical tower blocks, able to house more people in a relatively small space (4) a horizontal street, started to appear. The more people got used to living in these structures, (5) more they would form the heart of communities, or so the thinking went.

Initially, these blocks were (6) popular than the old housing they replaced. They were (7) and away the (8) affordable alternative for many people, and they also offered excellent views.

However, these buildings soon became (9) attractive to residents as crime rose. It also became clear that a tower block was (10) like as friendly a place to live in (11) a traditional street. More often (12) not, residents in a tower block didn't interact with each other on a regular basis. Although modern tower blocks are making something of a comeback amongst young professionals, they still have a poor reputation in the minds of many people.

Taking your house with you

For most of us, our (1) (RESIDE) is a permanent structure. Whether a flat or a mansion, our (2) (ROUND) are not built to move. For those who prefer a mobile lifestyle, but want more (3) (SOLID) than a tent can offer, there is an intriguing (4) (ARCHITECT) solution: the shipping container.

Shipping containers are large metal boxes that (5) (MANUFACTURE) use for transporting goods by ship. One of these containers can form the basis of a surprisingly (6) (SPACE) dwelling, and one which can be easily shipped to different parts of the world. It's easy to design the inside: wooden panels can be used to create separate areas and to make (7) (SHELF). More difficult is creating the (8) (STRUCTURE) that all homes need to make them (9) (INHABIT): connections to electricity and water. As long as your container isn't too far away from a (10) (RESIDE) area, and as long as you are prepared to adapt to local conditions, it may well be possible to connect to local supplies. When you decide to move, simply pack up and arrange for your house to be delivered to your destination!

■ Clauses

Relative pronouns in relative clauses

who	to refer to people (and animals when we want to give them a personality)	There are a lot of people who hate having injections.
which	to refer to things and concepts (and animals when we don't want to give them a personality)	This is the prescription which the doctor gave me.
whom	a formal word for who ; as an object; must be used directly after a preposition	That's the consultant with whom I spoke.
that	a more informal word for who , which , when , where , why ; only used in defining relative clauses	This is the prescription that the doctor gave me.
when	to refer to time; = in/on/etc which	I'll never forget the day when I broke my finger.
where	to refer to place or situation; = in/at/etc which	Harley Street, where she was born, is famous for its clinics.
why	often after the word reason ; = the reason for which ; only used in defining relative clauses	And that's (the reason) why I wanted to become a vet.
whose	the possessive of who and which ; can also come after a preposition	There are several kids in my class whose parents are doctors.
what	= the thing(s) which ; only used in defining relative clauses	What I don't understand is why she didn't take her pills.

Watch out!

- When we use a preposition with a relative pronoun, it is more formal to put the preposition before the pronoun.
 - ✓ This is the medical encyclopaedia to which I referred. (very formal)
 - ✓ This is the medical encyclopaedia which I referred to. (less formal)
- Which can refer to the whole preceding clause, rather than just the preceding noun.
 - ✓ She announced that she wanted to be a pathologist, which really shocked us. (= the announcement shocked us)

Defining and non-defining relative clauses

Defining relative clauses

These tell us which one of a group of things/people we are talking about. The sentence doesn't usually make complete sense if we remove the relative clause.

✓ That's the doctor who did Karen's operation.

We can use that instead of who/which/etc. This is more informal.

✓ That's the doctor that did Karen's operation.

We don't use a comma or commas.

✓ That's the doctor who did Karen's operation.

We can omit the relative pronoun if it is the object.

✓ That's the doctor who she saw. (more formal)

✓ That's the doctor she saw. (less formal)

When, where and why can be omitted.

✓ I'll never forget the day when I broke my arm.

✓ I'll never forget the day I broke my arm.

We cannot put a number or a determiner such as some, none, much and many before of which or of whom.

Non-defining relative clauses

These simply give us more information about someone/something. The sentence makes complete sense if we remove the relative clause.

✓ Dr Lake, who has been working here for over ten years, is a very experienced surgeon.

We cannot use that instead of who/which/etc.

We must use a comma or commas.

✓ Dr Lake, who is an experienced surgeon, is my uncle.

We cannot omit the relative pronoun.

✓ Dr Lake, who is my uncle, is 50 years old.

We do not use why.

We cannot omit where and when.

✓ Harley Street, where she was born, is famous for its clinics.

We can put a number or a determiner such as some, none, much and many before of which or of whom.

✓ I bought some drugs, some of which were expensive.

Participle clauses

To replace a relative clause	She was the nurse looking after the patients at the time. (who was looking) The boy taken to hospital was 13 years old. (who was taken)

J Choose the correct answer.

Out-of-body experiences

(1) most scientists dismiss tales of out-of-body experiences on the operating table as dreams and delusions, there are some cases which seem to defy rational explanation. Take Margaret Frobisher. In 2003, she was undergoing a routine operation under general anaesthetic at Sansdown Hospital in Kent. There were serious complications, (2) , and her heart stopped beating. Try (3) they might, the surgeon and anaesthetist were unable to resuscitate her. Finally, after eight minutes, they succeeded. (4) having been clinically dead, Margaret suffered no brain damage and no adverse side effects. The story doesn't stop there, (5) When the anaesthetist went to visit her in her hospital bed, Margaret Frobisher recounted an amazing story. She said she vividly remembered floating above the operating table. And (6) her never having been conscious in that room at any time, she described the room and the resuscitation attempt in great detail. She said that (7) three of the walls were bright white, one was dark grey. This was true. She also said that, on the top of a cabinet in a corner of the operating theatre, there was an old book. (8) the anaesthetist didn't – and couldn't – believe her, she checked. There, just as Margaret Frobisher had described it, was the book. (9) as they tried, no one at the hospital could explain how Margaret could have known about the book. Even (10) one does not believe in a 'soul' or in life after death, it is difficult to explain what happened in that operating theatre when Margaret Frobisher's heart stopped beating.

B Each of the words in bold, except one, is in the wrong place. Write the correct words on the lines.

A young child's emotions

Young children express their emotions much more openly than most adults. In the playground, they often (1) neglect and ridicule the 'weaker' children and 'social misfits'. When they're successful at something, they (2) grimace openly. When they're taking horrible medicine, they (3) conduct in a way that adults rarely do. When they're (4) impatient, you know about it immediately. The (5) gloat a young child can experience during a nightmare often seems far more extreme than the fear adults have. Children's emotions are often very unpredictable too. When something angers them, they (6) mock instantly. A young child can go from peaceful (7) terror to extreme anger and back again in just a couple of minutes. If you give a small child a pet, they'll love it for a day or two, but then they might completely (8) snap it. All of this is for many reasons. Firstly, humans have to learn how to (9) contentment and control their emotions. And that takes time. Secondly, humans have to learn how to (10) handle themselves within a society. That also takes many years. Indeed, many adults still have a lot to learn when it comes to that.

26th August I haven't written anything for about two weeks, so it's time to catch up on what's been going on. So, the morning after my last entry, I woke up in (1) I've never felt so bad in my life. In fact, it felt like I'd been shot in the stomach. I immediately arranged to go on sick (2) from work. Then I called the doctor, who came that morning and (3) some medicine for me. I took it for about two days but my stomach was still really bad, so I called the doctor again. He said I'd have to be (4) to hospital! Well, I've never been in hospital in my life. They took me in an ambulance and put me in a (5) with about 20 other people. In the afternoon, the (6) came to see me. Her (7) was that I'd got some kind of ulcer caused by bacteria. She said they'd have to (8) antibiotics via an intravenous drip. So, basically for the next six days I had a big (9) sticking into my arm pumping in antibiotics on a regular basis. It wasn't much fun, but I did start to feel better pretty quickly. One problem, though, was that the drugs did produce one strange (10) effect. Apparently that sometimes happens. The whole of the left side of my face went (11) It wasn't exactly (12) because I could still move my cheek – I just couldn't feel it. Very weird! Anyway, I'm home now, and feeling fine. Voluntary euthanasia

There are many moral issues which remain (1) to this day. One of these is RESOLVE voluntary euthanasia. Let's say there is a patient who has a terminal disease. All possible treatments known to science are (2) There's no cure, and no hope. The patient's death EFFECT from this disease at some point in the future is (3) Most of us would say that, as AVOID long as the patient is fairly comfortable and pain-free, there's no moral issue. But what if the patient is in extreme agony? They cannot live (4) of machines and 24-hour care. What if the DEPEND patient (5) and continually asks for their life to be brought to an end by doctors? RESOLVE Should the doctors refuse? At present, in most countries, there are laws against voluntary euthanasia.
 But from a moral point of view, we have to (6) that there is a problem. Do the KNOW doctors really have the right to be (7) to the patient's wishes? SENSE
 On the other hand, opponents of voluntary euthanasia argue that scientific (8) KNOW is increasing all the time. An incurable disease one day may be curable the next. They also argue that if the law was changed, the (9) situation would put doctors in a much worse RESULT position. They currently have no choice. Do we as a society have the right to expect doctors to
 (10) such a difficult and complex issue? HAND

A Write one word in each gap.

Crying

A boyfriend or girlfriend we love dumps us. How do we react? Most of us go through a period of crying our eyes (1) But have you ever wondered why humans cry? Most mammals produce tears to clean and lubricate the eyes but humans are unique – perhaps with the exception of gorillas and elephants – in producing tears in response (2) emotional stimuli. We might feel (3) crying when we hear sad news, or even cry (4) happiness. Scientists are unsure what, if any, benefits there are from crying as it seems to have little or no immediate effect (5) the situation that has produced the tears. However, many people do say that they feel the benefits (6) a good cry in that after it they are emotionally stronger, so it's possible that crying does in some way help us to get (7) difficult emotional situations.

Some societies look down on adults crying. This attitude is sometimes seen in the society's language. Expressions such as 'there's no point crying over (8) milk' and '(9) and bear it' in English reflect a culture that – at least historically – does not value adult crying.

Crying can also be used as a means of deception. If you cry 'crocodile tears', you are (10) on an act – pretending to be upset when in fact you are not.

Problems close to home

Rarely (1) neighbours have the best of relationships for any length of time. Of course, some people become close friends, but only if there is a lot of give and take (2) this possible. (3) common are disputes between neighbours that there are many laws to cover arguments over noise, property and rubbish. Before things go (4) far for the relationship to be saved, there are a few simple things you can do. The first is (5) speak to your neighbour. You'd be amazed at how many arguments are avoided by (6) a simple step. Not (7) does it give you the chance to express your complaint, it (8) gives your neighbour the chance to explain and, perhaps, take action.

Secondly, check your rights. On (9) account should you do anything to damage your neighbours' property, or their overhanging trees if that's the problem, without knowing what your legal rights are. (10) until you are sure you are acting within the law should you do anything. And remember – a little understanding can go a long way.

Power

We are (1) to many different forms of power. There are those forms of power that exist by law: the right of the government to (2) laws on a country and to (3) what we are allowed to do. There is also the right of courts to (4) people to appear to stand trial or to give evidence. There is also, of course, power on a more personal level. People are constantly struggling for power and social status. This might take the form of attempting to (5) a conversation, something that is relatively easy to (6) since it is so obvious. It is more difficult to (7) ourselves from other forms of social power. When we are (8) as 'this' or 'that' by other people and put into a category, that too is a form of power. Bosses at work might (9) their employees by making them work long hours. A parent might (10) their child's self-confidence with constant criticism. Power is everywhere and the more you understand it, the more you may be able to control it.

Crime and punishment

The demand for prison (1) has steadily increased as more and more people have come to see that locking people up in (2) simply doesn't reduce crime. Not only does it fail to act as a (3), but it does very little to help (4) readjust to life back in the (5) after they have served their time. Prisons are isolated places, where prisoners learn from other criminals, and where bullying, bribery and other forms of (6) spread. Once outside prison, offenders face (7), which tends to force them back into a life of crime. Even once the (8) recognises the need for change, it is notoriously slow. It usually demands new (9) to change the system, and while the slow processes of (10) go on, more and more lives are affected.

The Hoody

The hooded top, or 'hoody', has become something of a symbol of youth crime in Britain. It seems to get a mention whenever the newspapers get (1) the subject. Those wearing them are often classed (2) jobs or hooligans, even when they have done nothing (3) the law. The problem is that hoodies can easily hide their identity from CCTV cameras. Those (4) authority in some places such as shopping centres have even gone so far as to ban people wearing hoodies. They claim that the threat of crime (5) them the right to do it, but there is a danger that young people will actually be provoked (6) behaving in antisocial ways through rules like this. They may feel that those (7) power are discriminating against them, and that they refuse to listen when they deny (8) done anything wrong. It seems to be a classic example (9) older people feeling threatened by the fashions of the young. At the end of the day, what the members of their peer (10) think will always be more important to the young than what people running shopping centres think they should or shouldn't wear.

Indefinite articles: a/an

With singular countable nouns	talking about one thing, but not being specific mentioning something for the first time talking about things generally (formal)	I'd like to go to a concert tonight but there's nothing good on. I've had a great idea! A poet sees the world differently. (= Poets see ...)
-------------------------------	---	---

Watch out!

- We use a before a consonant sound, and an before a vowel sound. It is the sound and not the spelling that is important (eg a unique experience, an umbrella).
- We use a/an to show what group someone or something belongs to, or to classify it/him/her. ✓ Liz is a modernist.

Definite article: the singular countable nouns	being specific talking generally (formal)	Is that the band you were talking about? The guitar is one of the oldest musical instruments. (= Guitars are ...) plural countable and uncountable nouns	being specific	The scales are balanced to symbolise equality. singular uncountable nouns with some adjectives to mean groups of people	being specific talking generally (formal)	Who did the publicity for the show? Pop music has always appealed more to the young than the old.

Watch out!

- We often use the with physical things that are unique (eg the moon, the Queen).
- We often use the with superlatives (eg the best) and cardinal numbers (eg the first).
- We can use the to mean the well-known or the famous.
✓ I bumped into Damian Hirst, the artist, in the supermarket. (= the well-known artist)

Zero article: no article at all

With plural countable and uncountable nouns	talking generally	Don't let your young child use scissors unsupervised.
With singular uncountable nouns	talking generally	An artist always needs inspiration.

Watch out!

We often use no article for concepts (ie not physical things), eg society, space, nature.

I Write one word in each gap.Artists and money

In publishing, (1) author will usually earn royalties on sales. For (2) book sold, the author gets a percentage. The more successful the author, the more they are able to negotiate with their publisher, and (3) bigger the percentage they can get. Although the 'struggling author' is still common, it is quite possible for a successful novelist to earn a (4) deal of money. You only have to look at (5) children's author J. K. Rowling to see that.

For a painter or sculptor, however, the situation is more difficult. A painter sells his or her work for (6) fee. As the painter becomes more successful, the painting becomes valuable. (7) time it is sold, its value increases. The painter doesn't receive (8) benefit from this, though. To make money, the artist has to be continually producing new pieces. More than a (9) artists today, however, are very aware of this, and so practise what is sometimes called 'holding back'. They produce, say, ten paintings for an exhibition, but only allow a certain (10) of them, say eight, to be sold. The other two they keep, in (11) hope that when they sell them in later years they will have greatly increased in value.

For musicians, there are royalties for performance (eg on CD) and for writing. However, since (12) illegal transfer of digital music via the Internet has become widespread, (13) songwriters and performers have become worried that their main source of income will dry up. Certainly, the (14) music industry – be it pop, rock or classical – is in turmoil at the moment, but its future is not bleak. There is still a huge (15) of money to be made from live performances.

An alternative to galleries

When most of us think of works of art, we tend to think of pieces in galleries, whether they be famous (1) (such as da Vinci's Mona Lisa) hanging on the wall, or bizarre (2) (such as a pile of bricks with a red shoe on top).

Certainly, galleries are one of the main ways in which people can view art. Another way is to go to a/an (3) You don't have to be rich to attend (entrance is usually free), although if you're going to bid for a Van Gogh, you'd better take your bank details with you.

They're actually a great way to learn about art, because the catalogue gives detailed information about each piece, and there's often more variety than in a gallery. On any one day, there may be (4) in pencil (artists generally do these before painting the actual picture), (5) art (which includes sculptures and ceramics as well as paintings), collector's (6) (anything from broomsticks to postcards), (7) paintings (the catalogue will help you work out what the artist was trying to express) and even (8) furniture.

Contemporary Art

There is a widely held view that artistic standards have got (1) over the last 100 years or so and that contemporary art is (2) a bad way, the clichéd response being 'my three-year-old child could have done better than that'. Yet many pieces sell for millions of dollars within the art world. How can we get to the (3) of this seeming contradiction?

Those new (4) contemporary art should be forgiven for this kind of response, but it is largely a matter of their ignorance rather than the reality. What needs to be (5) clear is that contemporary art is at the cutting edge; painting a lifelike picture of a racehorse is no longer an option for an artist attempting to break new ground. Were contemporary artists to produce pictures like this, we would actually have the (6) of all worlds – a stagnant and backward-looking artistic tradition.

Having said that, some contemporary art is of poor (7) , but that's true of every art (8) at any point in history. We can only decide that novels are great, for example, by having mediocre or bad novels to compare them to.

However, those (9) the top of the contemporary art world are producing innovative and challenging pieces. At (10) best, contemporary art is as exciting and productive as it's possible for art to be.

There is, of course, a (11) line between quality contemporary art and pseudo-art. Abstract pictures produced by cats, for example, have no real place in the contemporary art world. They merely relieve the gullible and the ignorant of their money.

The working world of: Jacob Lawson

This week we look at the working life of Jacob Lawson, who buys and sells items on Internet auction sites. In the old days, before the Internet, I had to trawl through hundreds of (1) (CLASS) ads each week and go to car boot sales at the weekend. Auction sites like eBay, though, are extremely (2) (IMPRESS) and a great (3) (IMPROVE). It's just (4) (TERROR) what you can do at the click of a button. I love it!

I generally buy and sell (5) (COLLECT) items. These could be anything – from carriage clocks to knives and forks to plastic (6) (ART) flowers. (7) (COLLECT) are interested in the strangest things – and there's always money to be made. The best money comes from items that are in very good condition – often because they're (8) (USE) and still in their packaging, but there's also a market for things like second-hand pottery or glassware that might have (9) (PERFECT).

I'm quite successful. One of my (10) (STRONG) is that I've got a very good rating on most of these sites – people I've sold to have given me very good reviews, so new customers trust me. I'm also good at spotting what's (11) (VALUE) and what's completely (12) (WORTH). For example, here's a pair of (13) (MATCH) earrings. The description says they're diamond, but if you click on the picture, a trained eye like mine can tell immediately they're (14) (IMITATE). Diamond's basically (15) (DESTROY), you see, and these have got damage marks on them. So I won't be buying them. Ideally, it's better to actually see the (16) (GOOD) you're buying before you purchase them, but these auction sites have pretty good policies if you're not satisfied with your purchase, and I've never had any problems.

M The prefix in- can often mean 'not' or 'no'. However, in words such as invaluable, in- does not mean 'not' or 'no'. Tick the words where it means 'not' or 'no'. Put a cross next to the words where it doesn't.

The Librarians – On the bookshelf ***

They stole the (1) at last year's Brit Awards. Their last album was described by New Music Today as '(2) of this world'. Then, after acrimonious and bitter infighting, they announced they'd split up. But fans of The Librarians will be cheered to know the band have now patched things (3) and have recorded a brand (4) album. The two ballads on the album, Carefree and Tomorrow I'm leaving don't particularly (5) out as anything special, but (6) its best, On the bookshelf contains some of the finest songs The Librarians have ever written. There's no doubt they've got alternative electro-rock (7) to a fine art, and when they get it right, they get it right (8) style.

Divorce

Legal and social changes in Britain have led to many more people choosing getting divorced over the last three decades. The Divorce Reform Act (1969) let people to get divorced far more easily and, despite promising staying together for life, over 160,000 couples ended up to get divorced each year during the late 80s and early 90s, compared to just over 27,000 in 1961. Towards the end of the twentieth century, divorce rates tended falling, then started to rise again over the first years of the twenty-first century.

When asked what motivated them getting divorced, people usually mention things like not to feel that the relationship was developing, or their partner making them to feel inadequate. Whatever causes people separating, it is often the children who have to learn living in a different family setting. They often resent to have to change their lives because the adults involved can't manage resolving their difficulties. Divorce has got easier legally, but it hasn't got any easier emotionally.

Speed Dating

'You've been trying (1) find that certain someone for far too long, Debbie,' they said. 'Can't you feel (2) getting older? Don't you (3) it strange to be 25 and not married yet?' they asked. They recommended (4) to check out something called 'speed dating'. Two days later I found (5) sitting in a club in central London with 100 other people with name badges on.

The idea with speed dating is that you have three minutes to chat, then a bell rings and you change partners. You keep (6) going like that all night, making a note of anybody you like. So, I sat there as 50 young men passed before my eyes. I didn't (7) tell them that I worked for a young women's magazine, so I pretended to be a hairdresser. Everyone obviously found (8) hard to know what to say – well, what do you say to sell yourself in three minutes? The Kevins, Jonathans and Michaels came and went, and I (9) to feel like I couldn't (10) to hear another potted biography. Speed dating might work for some, but I think I'll stick to traditional methods to find Mr Right.

Arranged marriages

The usual western idea of marriage is that you meet someone, (1) in love, and then decide to marry each other. For those born (2) some cultures, however, marriage may have quite a different meaning. In an arranged marriage, it is the parents who choose the partner and it's possible (3) the young person getting married not to meet their future bride or groom (4) person until the day of the wedding. Indeed, a young person might be promised to another (5) a child, many years before the wedding day.

Amongst communities that practise arranged marriage, it's not unusual for a generation (6) to open up between parents and children, with many young people refusing to accept an arranged marriage. However, if the partners treat each other (7) respect and recognise that they are both (8) equal value, there doesn't seem to be any real barrier to having a happy married life.

Culture clashes

One (1) (CHARACTER) of the modern world is that people increasingly find themselves living side by side with people from other cultures. While in the past people with different cultures were able to live quite (2) (SEPARATE), high mobility and freedom of movement mean that we are more likely today to be confronted with people whose way of life is (3) (FAMILIAR) to us. In such circumstances, (4) (RACE) is a real danger. People feel a tremendous (5) (LOYAL) to their own culture, and are often unwilling to develop an (6) (APPRECIATE) of the positive aspects of other cultures. They may feel that another culture presents a threat to their own (7) (INHERIT), one that could even lead to the (8) (APPEAR) of certain aspects of their way of life. Often, however, this threat is more a matter of (9) (PERCEIVE) than reality and different groups live in (10) (RELATE) harmony in many parts of the world.

Reporting

Reported speech: tense changes

- If the reporting verb is in the past (eg said), we usually have to change the tense of what the person actually said. The general rule is go back one tense but there are some exceptions.
- With past perfect simple and continuous, there is no tense change.

Direct speech	Reported speech
present simple: Sam doesn't play hockey very often.	past simple: Fiona said that Sam didn't play hockey very often.
present continuous: I'm winning!	past continuous: Carol shouted to us that she was winning .
present perfect simple: I've never been given a trophy before!	past perfect simple: Paul said that he'd never been given a trophy before.
present perfect continuous: They've been playing for four hours.	past perfect continuous: She told us that they'd been playing for four hours.
past simple: We lost the match.	past perfect simple: Finally he told us that they had lost the match.
past continuous: We were winning until half-time.	past perfect continuous: She said they had been winning until half-time.

Watch out!

- When something is still true, we can change tense but we don't have to.
✓ The article said that fishing is/was the most popular sport in Britain.
- When we are reporting a scientific or historical fact, we don't usually change tense.
✓ Alan told me that Queen Victoria hated Gladstone, the Prime Minister.
- Although we can usually leave out that (Alan told me (that) Queen Victoria ...), we cannot leave out that after the verbs reply and shout.
✓ I replied that going swimming in such cold water was a ridiculous idea.

Reported speech: modal and semi-modal changes

- If the reporting verb is in the past (eg said), we sometimes have to change modals and semi-modals.
- Could, would, should, ought to, had better and need do do not change.
✓ 'I could swim when I was three,' said Lizzie. → Lizzie said that she could swim when she was three.

Direct speech	will/shall	can	must	have to	don't/doesn't have to	mustn't	may	am/is/are going to
Reported speech	would	could	must had to be to should	had to	didn't have to	mustn't be not to shouldn't	might	was/were going to

Watch out!

- When we are expressing obligation, must in direct speech usually changes to had to, be to or should in reported speech.
✓ 'You must do what the referee tells you,' said the coach. → The coach said that we had to / were to / should do what the referee told us.
- When we are expressing obligation, mustn't can become mustn't, be not to or shouldn't.
✓ 'You mustn't cheat under any circumstances!' → We were told that we mustn't / were not to / shouldn't cheat under any circumstances.
- Must doesn't usually change to had to or should when we are expressing probability.
✓ 'It must have felt wonderful when they won!' said Dave. Dave said that it must have felt wonderful when

Reported speech: pronoun and determiner changes

Direct speech	Reported speech
my: It's my turn.	his/her: Eddie pointed out that it was his turn.
this/that + noun: I bought this fishing rod yesterday.	the/that: Linda said she'd bought the fishing rod the day before.
this/that + verb: This is a great game!	it/that: Tony said it was a great game.
these/those + noun: Look at these baseball gloves!	the/those: Alison told us to look at the baseball gloves.
these/those + verb: These are the best baseball gloves I've ever seen.	they: She said they were the best baseball gloves she'd ever seen.
verb + these/those (without an object): I've had these for years.	them: She said she'd had them for years.

Watch out!

- We do not need to change time words/phrases when the information is still true at the moment of speaking/writing.
✓ 'I'll see you at the match next week,' said Dave. → Dave told us he'd see us at the match next week.
- In narratives, writers often use direct speech time words and phrases for dramatic effect.
✓ Carlo turned to Fraser and said that, here, now, they would decide who the champion was once and for all.

Reported speech: time and place changes

Direct speech	Reported speech	Direct speech	Reported speech
here	there	now, at the moment	then, at that moment tomorrow	the following/next day, the day after	next week/year/etc	the following/next week, the week after tonight	that night	last week/year/etc	the week before, the previous week yesterday	the day before, the previous day	ago	before, previously, earlier

Reported questions

- With reported questions, we make the same changes regarding tense, pronoun and time and place word/phrases as we do with reported speech.
- In reported questions we don't use the question form or question marks.

Direct speech	Reported speech
Questions beginning with the verbs have, do, be and modals 'Do you want to play Monopoly?' asked Cheryl.	Cheryl asked if/whether we wanted to play Monopoly.
Questions with what, who, which, when, where, why and how 'What time did the match start?' asked Jimmy.	Jimmy asked Andrea what time the match had started .

Watch out!

- The structure question word + infinitive is very common with reported questions.
- ✓ She asked me how to tune a piano.
 - ✓ He asked me what to do.

Reported commands and requests

Direct speech	Reported speech
Commands 'Put the cricket bats away!' said Alex.	tell / command / order / instruct + sb + full infinitive Alex told me to put the cricket bats away.
Requests 'Would you put the cricket bats away?' asked Alex.	ask + sb + full infinitive Alex asked me to put the cricket bats away.

Reporting verbs

Different reporting verbs take different grammatical patterns. Some verbs can take more than one pattern, eg deny doing, deny sth, deny (that) ...

Common reporting verbs include: accuse, agree, apologise, ask, beg, claim, command, cry, deny, explain, instruct, order, promise, refuse, reply, respond, say, shout, state, suggest, tell, whisper

Hobbies

The next time someone asks me (1) my hobbies are, or, indeed, (2) I have any hobbies, I'm tempted to refuse (3) answer. Better still, I'll turn the question round and ask them to (4) me what their hobbies are. Doubtless they'll claim to (5) an avid collector of rare postage stamps, or an expert builder-of-cathedrals-out-of-matchsticks, but I shan't believe it. I don't think we should deny (6) any longer: the hobby is dead. I would like to suggest (7) , from now on, the word 'hobby' is erased from our vocabulary. You may accuse me (8) being naïve, but I strongly believe the facts support my case. Ask any teenager – or adult, for that matter – how they (9) their spare time. They'll respond (10) a list of activities – going to the gym, playing computer games, watching TV, downloading music, hanging out with friends, surfing the Internet, going to the pub, playing football – none of which can sensibly be called a hobby.
